

Hi Alison

I now have the arrangements for the funeral. It will be on Thursday 25th January at Colchester Crematorium. Please see the following link for full details:

<https://drrogerroberts.muchloved.com/>

Would you be able to share the link with Maldon and Dengie Ramblers? Also please feel free to share it with anyone else you think would be interested, or on any social media you think appropriate.

As well as the service and wake, you'll see the site allows donations to the charity we've chosen for Dad - the Open Spaces Society, who campaign to preserve and extend public rights of way and access.

We are keen to get together photos of Dad, and the site also allows people to upload any they'd like to share. We will keep a look out for these. If someone submits a photo and it disappears, it's probably because we've had to take some off to meet the data limit - but rest assured we'll keep a copy, and be very grateful for the contribution. Alternatively people could add photos to this google album (which already has a lot of good ones - take a look) or email them to me. If you have pics and none of these methods work for you (maybe you have actual photographs - remember them?), do let me know and we'll work something out.

I'm still putting together the service, and there is a slot for you to say a few words, if that's something you'd still like to do. I'd really appreciate that and I'm sure Dad would. If you let me know you're still interested then the main question is how long you'd have - would 3 min sound ok?

Don't hesitate to get in touch - I'm still on Dad's phone.

Best wishes,
Gavin
